1 Overview

The Aras Innovator 2025 Release has specific differences that will affect the software used differently than if the Subscriber releases of Aras Innovator are used. This document illustrates these key differences with some notes related to going live with Aras Innovator in a production environment.

2 Users and License Limits

2.1 License Limits

This version of Aras Innovator restricts the number of users to a maximum of 50. This limit includes all named users, both those provided by default and those with login access disabled.
If the number of enabled user logins exceeds 50, an error will be displayed upon login. In this case, only the Aras Innovator Admin user will be able to log in while the limit is exceeded. The administrator has the option to delete users who exceed the limit or to contact Aras for information regarding subscription options.

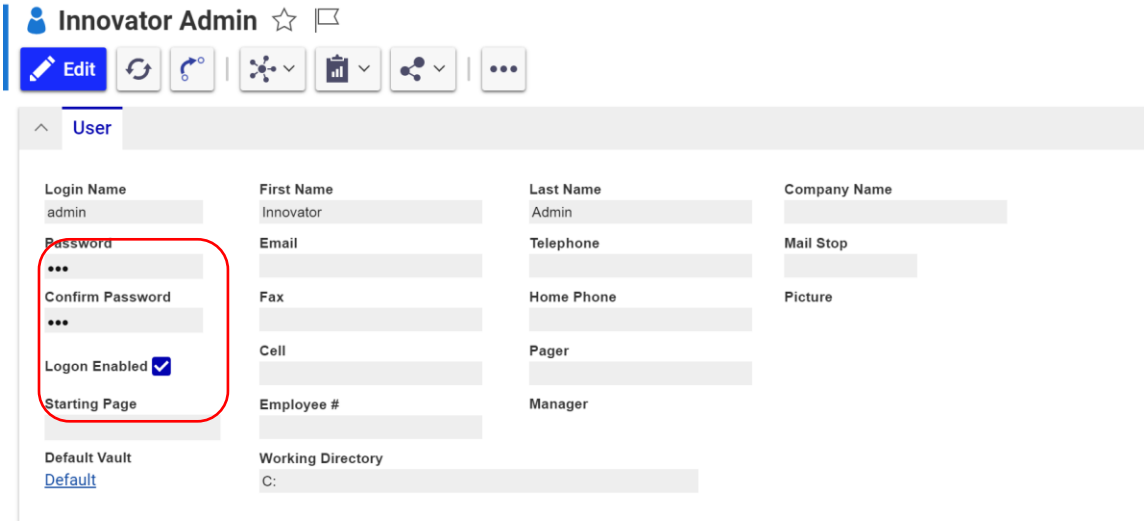
2.1.1 Innovator Admin

The Aras Innovator Admin is the system's default administrative user. Normally, this user would be disabled in a Subscriber instance. However, the Aras Innovator 2025 Release requires this user for login maintenance. Ensure the password on this user is changed before putting the system in production and that this login stays enabled.



2.1.2 Super User

The Super User is a debug user for the out-of-the-box installation. This user should be disabled in a production instance. It is recommended that the Super User be disabled unless specifically using this user in a non-production instance.

2.1.3 Other Users

The remaining out-of-the-box users are tied to specific functionality and should follow documented guidelines for disabling logins or changing passwords. For example, the installation guide recommends changing the password on the Vault Admin, but additional vault configuration is required to update the credentials in the web service.
