1 Overview

The Aras Innovator 2026 Release (Community Edition) differs from the Subscriber Edition in how users and licenses work. This guide describes these differences and what to check before you use the Community Edition in production.

2 Users and License Limits

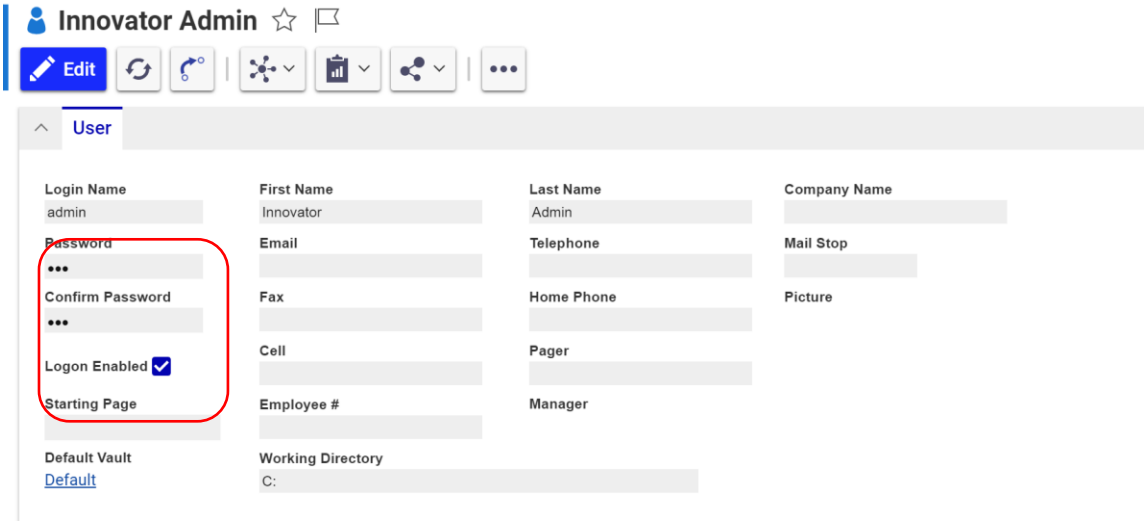

2.1 License Limits

This version of Aras Innovator restricts the number of users to a maximum of 50. This limit includes all named users, both those provided by default and those with sign-in access disabled.
If the number of enabled user logins exceeds 50, an error will be displayed upon login. In this case, only the Aras Innovator Admin user can sign in while the limit is exceeded. The administrator can delete users who exceed the limit or contact Aras for information about subscription options. For additional information, see the Aras Innovator 40 - Upgrading from 2026 Release guide.

2.1.1 Innovator Admin

The Aras Innovator Admin is the system's default administrative user. This user is normally disabled in a Subscriber instance. However, the Aras Innovator 2026 Release requires this user for sign-in maintenance. Ensure the password on this user is changed before putting the system in production and that this login stays enabled.

2.1.2 Super User

The Super User is a debug user for the out-of-the-box installation. It is recommended that the Super User be disabled in a production instance unless specifically using it in a non-production instance.

2.1.3 Other Users

The remaining out-of-the-box users are tied to specific functionality and should follow documented guidelines for disabling logins or changing passwords. For example, the installation guide recommends changing the password on the Vault Admin, but additional vault configuration is required to update the credentials in the web service.
